

Temperatures around the World

Annual Mean Temperature

Look at this picture. The closer you are to the equator the hotter it is. The further away you are the colder it gets.

The continent of Africa is red because the equator passes through it.

The continent of Antarctica is blue/purple because it is furthest away from the equator.

